

Kaimuki Youngsters Gathered In Gay Hallowe'en Party At School

NEW REGULATION ON EXEMPTIONS RECEIVED HERE

No registered person who may be drafted next Thursday can be discharged from the draft on the ground of being in the military service of the United States, unless his enlistment, engagement or appointment was consummated prior to his being called to report to a local board to determine his fitness for military service.

This is the information in an official notice sent to the Hawaiian department by Brig-Gen. E. H. Crowder, in charge of the selective draft at Washington. The notice deals with the draft in general and so applies to those registered in Hawaii.

Unless a man enlisted prior to the time the draft board summons him he must submit to draft.

In some cases the government desires to commission registrants who may be called, or it may be desired to send candidates to training camps or use them as field clerks. Rules for this are laid down in today's order. The local board which calls such men is entitled to credit them on its quota. It is provided that these men shall first go before a board and be inducted into service by draft, after which the government may choose them for special work as it sees fit.

A Sensitive Society Subject

Toilet and hygiene cleanliness is a subject of much interest to the scientific, social and literary world. It deserves all the attention it is receiving, and a great deal more, because a better understanding of its value rests the comfort and longevity of the human race. The way to obtain and retain it is, of course, to keep clean, and to do this from a toilet and hygiene standpoint there is nothing more suitable than Tyre's Antiseptic Powder. The nature of the composition of this article makes it an almost indispensable adjunct to the toilet of every careful woman who appreciates the value and comfort of hygiene cleanliness. Tyre's Antiseptic Powder has a large and growing number of friends in the scientific, social and literary world. In solution when used for diseases of the mucous membrane and for prickly heat, poison oak, tender feet, offensive perspiration, etc., and in many other ways peculiar to woman's requirements, it is unexcelled.

Tyre's Powder does not stain, possesses no odor, and its use is accompanied by a most delightful sensation. Being inexpensive, its employment is not opposed by patients of moderate means. It is sold in original packages only at twenty-five cents and one dollar each, by the manufacturer, J. S. Tyre, Chemist, Inc., Washington, D. C.

"Soapbox" Barron Figures As Rich Man In Divorce

Charles Barron, Democratic orator and campaign worker, who achieved the sobriquet of "Soapbox" from his penchant for airing his views on any and all occasions, figures as one of the principals in the following story from a San Francisco paper.

Barron left Hawaii a year or so ago. The San Francisco account mentions his possession of $500,000 of Honolulu real estate, a fact of which even his closest friends here were not aware. In fact, it is probable they will read this item with marked incredulity. Barron's principal business here was supposed to be selling chromos.

The coast paper says:

"International complications caused by alleged death threats feature the divorce complaint of Mrs. Elvira Barron, filed secretly today, against Chas. Barron, wealthy Democratic politician and land owner of Hawaii, who was served his summons in the case on his return from Washington, where he unsuccessfully sought the appointment as postmaster at Honolulu.

"Mrs. Barron charges extreme cruelty, claiming that her husband was so jealous that he slept with a razor under his pillow and repeatedly threatened her life. She alleges that it is unsafe to live with him.

To Contest Suit

"Barron is remaining here to contest the suit. Mrs. Barron is living with her mother in Oakland. He was formerly chairman of the Democratic territorial committee of Hawaii.

"The Barron's marriage in Honolulu nearly two years ago was a social event in the island city. At that time, it is understood, Barron presented his bride with a half interest in $500,000 worth of Honolulu real estate.

"Further cause of trouble, Mrs. Barron alleges, is the fact that she is of German descent and that her husband is of English parentage.

Called Germans Huns

"Barron continually called the Germans 'barbaric Huns,' the complaint alleges, to the distress of his wife, and often twitted her with the remark that the Germans in the war were 'doing nothing except killing innocent women and children of England.' He promised, the complaint says, that the Germans would some day get what they deserve.

"Barron is preparing a cross complaint in which he blames his mother-in-law for his domestic difficulties."

ARTILLERY FIRE OF LAUGHS WINS FOR GEN. 'IZZY'

(BY THE OFFICE BOY.)

While I was cleaning out the waste basket the city editor slips me a couple of pasteboards calling for the same pair of flops on the aisle, left, so I rings up a jazz and makes a date for the Bijou. I see by the program that "Izzy Back From War" is the big laugh for the evening, and I busies myself giving the musical program, which is a bear, the once-over, while the jazz reads the ads on the asbestos.

Well, I settles down for a pleasant evening as soon as the big picture shoots up and the Dancing Chicks trip out and start the ball rolling. There's nine of them this week. Monte Carter, as "Izzy" gets himself in Dutch with the dame he's about to lead to the altar by getting caught in a seven-eleven game. He reads in the paper that another Izzy Cohen has been appointed a jagidier bringle in the army. So he impersonates said Mister Cohen and beats it to war—or rather to jail. And then the fun begins. Of course the real general has to show up later on, but that's all in the show and it works out all right.

Of course the first thing I do when I pick up the program is to find out what the trio is going to pull off in the way of music. Those boys can sure sing, but the orchestra is still playing too loud, and of course there's a lot of harmony lost to those out in front. Do you ever get lonely? If you do, duck into the Bijou tonight and hear those boys sing "If You Ever Get Lonely." Then they sang "Sailing Away on the Henry Clay," and "River Shannon Speak to Me." Both were good and the audience called the boys back a lot of times. Miss Betty Buttrick sang splendidly and was especially good in a solo, "Mother Machree." Her other song was "My Hawaii," and in this number she was aided by the Chickens attired in hulu skirts.

The big hit was scored by Ethel Davis when she sang "From Here to Shanghai." I didn't stop to count how many times the audience made her come back and sing the chorus over, but the audience got so enthusiastic that Carter had to come out and give her a lift in the dancing end of it. The chorus was especially good in this number, each dressed in Chinese blouse and trousers and carrying Chinese lanterns a la vegetable peddler.

Other good musical numbers were "What Wonderful Things a Girlie Can Do," by Bob Sandberg; "Honky Tonkey Town," by Ethel Davis, and "Memphis, Tennessee," by Lou Davis. Blanche Gilmore looked natural to the audience—in the role of a spinster lady. Dorothy Armstrong, out of the chorus, had a part and handled it splendidly. Looks like she will be bidding the Chicks goodbye one of these days. Weiss, Davis and Miss Ethel Davis all handled their parts well.

WOMEN DOING MEN'S WORK

One of the most striking results of the great war in Europe, is the extent to which women are doing the work of men. Travelers to England and France report that practically every able-bodied man is in uniform and women by the thousands are engaged in doing men's work—acting as conductors and drivers on the cars and doing all sorts of heavy work besides. This shows unexpected possibilities in what has been mistakenly called the weaker sex. Women are subject to ailments which men do not have, and when so ailing become weak, helpless sufferers. But a remedy has been found. For forty years, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making such women well and strong, and as able to do work as any other woman.—Adv.
